

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1905.

PRICE ONE CENT.

TWELFTH ANNIVERSARY NUMBER . . . SUNDAY WORLD, MAY 12.

NIGHT EDITION REDS USED BIG BATS.

Miller Started the Second Inning with a Triple. Ewing's Two-bagger Off Lucid Drove in Three Runs.

Sloppy Grounds at Cincinnati for the Dainty Bridesgrooms.

LEAGUE PARK, CINCINNATI, O., May 11.—With the mercury hovering about a dozen degrees below the temperate point, there was little wonder that the crowd this afternoon was limited.

The indications were that the weather would not interfere with the game, though.

Pitcher Bill Kennedy joined the Brooklyn here last night.

The batting order was: Cincinnati, 1b, Brocklyn; 2b, Griffin, etc.; 3b, La Chance, etc.

First Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Second Inning. Miller hit for three bases. Vaughn's public score.

Third Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Fourth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Fifth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Sixth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Seventh Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Eighth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Ninth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Tenth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Eleventh Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Twelfth Inning. Latham base on balls. Hoy singled.

Game Postponed at Cleveland.

Doberman Laundry Man, It's the Best.

Wonderfully progressive—Beautiful and healthy.

The Grandest Achievement of the Age.

SHERMAN PARK.

Wonderfully progressive—Beautiful and healthy.

Doberman Laundry Man, It's the Best.

FAST CALIFORNIANS. RAIN AT LOUISVILLE. WINNERS AT MORRIS PARK.

The Pacific Coast College Athletes Give Princeton a Rub.

Defaulted the Pole Vault and Won Eight Events of the Card.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 11.—The first track athletic games between the teams representing the Universities of California and Princeton began here this afternoon.

There was quite a large attendance of students and their guests, many of whom were ladies, before the game began.

The track was in excellent condition, and the field also in elegant shape for the field events.

The pole vault went by default to Princeton, as the visitors brought no pole vaulter with them.

The summary of events: 100-Yard Dash—Won by F. W. Allen, Princeton, 12.2 seconds.

200-Yard Dash—Won by F. W. Allen, Princeton, 25.2 seconds.

400-Yard Dash—Won by E. J. Dyer, California, 52.2 seconds.

800-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 1:42.2 seconds.

1,600-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 3:22.2 seconds.

3,200-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 6:42.2 seconds.

6,400-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 13:22.2 seconds.

12,800-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 26:42.2 seconds.

25,600-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 53:22.2 seconds.

51,200-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 1:06:42.2 seconds.

102,400-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 2:13:22.2 seconds.

204,800-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 4:26:42.2 seconds.

409,600-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 8:53:22.2 seconds.

819,200-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 17:46:42.2 seconds.

1,638,400-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 35:33:22.2 seconds.

3,276,800-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 71:06:42.2 seconds.

6,553,600-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 142:13:22.2 seconds.

13,107,200-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 284:26:42.2 seconds.

26,214,400-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 568:53:22.2 seconds.

52,428,800-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 1:137:46:42.2 seconds.

104,857,600-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 2:275:33:22.2 seconds.

209,715,200-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 4:551:06:42.2 seconds.

419,430,400-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 9:102:13:22.2 seconds.

838,860,800-Yard Dash—Won by R. E. James, Jr., Princeton, 18:204:26:42.2 seconds.

RAIN AT LOUISVILLE. WINNERS AT MORRIS PARK.

No Baseball To-Day Between the Giants and Colonels.

Capt. Davis Will Protest Yesterday's Game on Umpire's Ruling.

Campbell Admits His Error Cost New York a Probable Victory.

(From The Evening World's Special Correspondent with the Team.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.—Today's game between the New York and Louisville teams was postponed on account of rain.

The Giants left for Chicago late in the afternoon.

Yesterday's game will be protested by Capt. Davis.

A mistake which, after the game Umpire Campbell admitted having made, cost the Gotham team four runs and the game.

With a man on second, Meekin gave a base on balls. The man on second made a wild dash for Davis's corner and Farrell shot the ball to the New York captain.

The runner was easily caught ten feet from the base and put out.

Campbell refused to allow the put out.

After that the next three men would have been easy victims at first, but a wild throw to the plate and a passed ball, after two men were out, gave Louisville four runs.

Campbell admitted his error to "The Evening World's" correspondent last night in the presence of a dozen men.

"I would have bet $100 to a bad cent, but I had that wrong on both first and second when Meekin gave that base on balls, and thought all were forced up a base. I think I lost the game for Capt. Davis."

Campbell appeared heartbroken over the error and will willingly sign an affidavit to the above facts.

He is a young umpire and endeavors to do what is right.

Although defeated, the management was more than delighted with the work of the two youngsters, Boswell and Bannon.

The University of Pennsylvania pitcher pitched the last six innings, and had the Colonels completely at his mercy, only one hit being made off his delivery.

To express it in the slang of the game, he had "speed to burn and out-of-sight curves."

Freeman last night repeated an offer of $5,000 for him. His style of delivery is more peculiar than the "Only Dutch" Carter's.

After yesterday's game several of the players had the riot act read to them.

ON COLUMBIA OVAL.

Ruppert Rides a Picky Finish with a Snapped Tire.

(Special to The Evening World.)

COLUMBIA OVAL, WILLIAMS-BRIDGE, N. Y., May 11.—After two postponements, due to bad weather, the Columbia College Union at last succeeded in getting a beautiful day for their annual Spring games, which were run this morning.

The track was hard and fast, and although the number of entries was very small the races were all hotly contested.

Among the officers, who were all chosen from the C. C. U., were Referee W. T. Lawson, Judges at Finish L. M. Lawson, J. W. Mail, W. Mains and W. Hallock, Field Judge Guy Richards and Clerk of the Course J. H. Small.

The two-mile bicycle race was one of the hottest ever contested on these grounds. C. Stevens set the pace for six laps, which he was passed by J. Ruppert, who, although his tire snapped in the last lap, won in fast time.

100-Yard Dash—Won by H. G. Chaitin, W. Deaslar, second, W. Beaman, third, Time—12.4 seconds.

200-Yard Dash—Won by S. Bijur, R. Richards, second, J. Joseph, third, Time—24.4 seconds.

WINNERS AT MORRIS PARK.

First Race--Sayonara First. Lafayette Second.

Second Race--Pat Oakley First. Playmate Second.

Third Race--Red Cloud First. Judge Morrow Second.

Fourth Race--Lady Raymond First. The Peer Second.

Fifth Race--Prize First. Logan Second.

Society Fails to Attend and Opening Not a Brilliant Success.

BOOKS GO EASY AT FIRST.

Later Everything Thaws Out and Betting Goes On at a Very Lively Pace.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, MORRIS PARK, May 11.—The season of legitimate racing was begun at the beautiful Westchester course this afternoon under the auspices of the National Steeplechase Association.

The atmosphere was, metaphorically speaking, decidedly frosty. One could cut ice from the floor of the betting look upon these opening days as notable events, failed to realize it to the extent that most people imagined. There were four drags in the enclosure on the lawn, but they looked rather unimpressive.

There were very few people in the clubhouse, and only the first row of seats in the grand stand were occupied. The outlook was very discouraging.

Books Loaded Around.

The bookmakers stood around and chatted with each other, but made no attempt to offer prices on any of the races.

John Duffy, one of the biggest bookmakers on the track said that neither he nor any of his fellow-bookmakers would attempt to make anything like a book.

"We may make a few bets with our friends," said he, "but for the sake of amusement, but there will be no attempt to bet with the public."

The Thompson in a white English helmet was a conspicuous figure, but he offered no odds. He wanted to bet a couple of hundred dollars that no one could pick the winner under such circumstances. It was quite useless to attempt to quote betting.

No Information for Pool-rooms.

The Western Union Telegraph Company did not try to furnish the innumerable pool-rooms throughout the country with betting, jockeys or any other information regarding the racing.

The general admission was $2. To the paddock and grand stand the price was $4, while clubhouse tickets could be purchased for $5.

On the first race there was very little betting, not enough to quote prices.

During the interval between the first and second races, however, the bookies warmed up and began to lay prices.

The Thompson, Henry Steedler, Adolph Laskman, Leo Swatts and a few others were seen from persons who knew. Several persons who did not know the Thompson offered him money, but he refused to take it.

"No money," he said, "I am only betting for amusement, just to see whether the boys will pay if they lose."

Some of the other bettors were not so scrupulous, however, and accepted money. Each bookmaker had a small card, which he could hold in the palm of his hand, on which he would scribble, rubbing and changing as the bets were made.

The Thompson had a clerk, who recorded the bet and also put the bettor's name opposite the bet.

During the afternoon, the crowd thawed out a trifle and one who wished to bet on the race, which was held in the paddock, was quickly strung out.

Before a half had been run, however, Sayonara went after him and at the top of the hill he caught and passed him. The others, headed by Winship were a dozen lengths away.

Sayonara led to the end, winning in a matter of eight lengths from Lafayette, who was twenty before Winship. Primus came at next to the last stride. Time—2:25.

WINNERS AT MORRIS PARK.

First Race--Sayonara First. Lafayette Second.

Second Race--Pat Oakley First. Playmate Second.

Third Race--Red Cloud First. Judge Morrow Second.

Fourth Race--Lady Raymond First. The Peer Second.

Fifth Race--Prize First. Logan Second.

Society Fails to Attend and Opening Not a Brilliant Success.

BOOKS GO EASY AT FIRST.

Later Everything Thaws Out and Betting Goes On at a Very Lively Pace.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, MORRIS PARK, May 11.—The season of legitimate racing was begun at the beautiful Westchester course this afternoon under the auspices of the National Steeplechase Association.

The atmosphere was, metaphorically speaking, decidedly frosty. One could cut ice from the floor of the betting look upon these opening days as notable events, failed to realize it to the extent that most people imagined. There were four drags in the enclosure on the lawn, but they looked rather unimpressive.

There were very few people in the clubhouse, and only the first row of seats in the grand stand were occupied. The outlook was very discouraging.

Books Loaded Around.

The bookmakers stood around and chatted with each other, but made no attempt to offer prices on any of the races.

John Duffy, one of the biggest bookmakers on the track said that neither he nor any of his fellow-bookmakers would attempt to make anything like a book.

"We may make a few bets with our friends," said he, "but for the sake of amusement, but there will be no attempt to bet with the public."

The Thompson in a white English helmet was a conspicuous figure, but he offered no odds. He wanted to bet a couple of hundred dollars that no one could pick the winner under such circumstances. It was quite useless to attempt to quote betting.

No Information for Pool-rooms.

The Western Union Telegraph Company did not try to furnish the innumerable pool-rooms throughout the country with betting, jockeys or any other information regarding the racing.

The general admission was $2. To the paddock and grand stand the price was $4, while clubhouse tickets could be purchased for $5.

On the first race there was very little betting, not enough to quote prices.

During the interval between the first and second races, however, the bookies warmed up and began to lay prices.

The Thompson, Henry Steedler, Adolph Laskman, Leo Swatts and a few others were seen from persons who knew. Several persons who did not know the Thompson offered him money, but he refused to take it.

"No money," he said, "I am only betting for amusement, just to see whether the boys will pay if they lose."

Some of the other bettors were not so scrupulous, however, and accepted money. Each bookmaker had a small card, which he could hold in the palm of his hand, on which he would scribble, rubbing and changing as the bets were made.

The Thompson had a clerk, who recorded the bet and also put the bettor's name opposite the bet.

During the afternoon, the crowd thawed out a trifle and one who wished to bet on the race, which was held in the paddock, was quickly strung out.

Before a half had been run, however, Sayonara went after him and at the top of the hill he caught and passed him. The others, headed by Winship were a dozen lengths away.

Sayonara led to the end, winning in a matter of eight lengths from Lafayette, who was twenty before Winship. Primus came at next to the last stride. Time—2:25.

WINNERS AT MORRIS PARK.

First Race--Sayonara First. Lafayette Second.

Second Race--Pat Oakley First. Playmate Second.

Third Race--Red Cloud First. Judge Morrow Second.

Fourth Race--Lady Raymond First. The Peer Second.

Fifth Race--Prize First. Logan Second.

Society Fails to Attend and Opening Not a Brilliant Success.

BOOKS GO EASY AT FIRST.

Later Everything Thaws Out and Betting Goes On at a Very Lively Pace.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, MORRIS PARK, May 11.—The season of legitimate racing was begun at the beautiful Westchester course this afternoon under the auspices of the National Steeplechase Association.

The atmosphere was, metaphorically speaking, decidedly frosty. One could cut ice from the floor of the betting look upon these opening days as notable events, failed to realize it to the extent that most people imagined. There were four drags in the enclosure on the lawn, but they looked rather unimpressive.

There were very few people in the clubhouse, and only the first row of seats in the grand stand were occupied. The outlook was very discouraging.

Books Loaded Around.

The bookmakers stood around and chatted with each other, but made no attempt to offer prices on any of the races.

John Duffy, one of the biggest bookmakers on the track said that neither he nor any of his fellow-bookmakers would attempt to make anything like a book.

"We may make a few bets with our friends," said he, "but for the sake of amusement, but there will be no attempt to bet with the public."

The Thompson in a white English helmet was a conspicuous figure, but he offered no odds. He wanted to bet a couple of hundred dollars that no one could pick the winner under such circumstances. It was quite useless to attempt to quote betting.

No Information for Pool-rooms.

The Western Union Telegraph Company did not try to furnish the innumerable pool-rooms throughout the country with betting, jockeys or any other information regarding the racing.

The general admission was $2. To the paddock and grand stand the price was $4, while clubhouse tickets could be purchased for $5.

On the first race there was very little betting, not enough to quote prices.

During the interval between the first and second races, however, the bookies warmed up and began to lay prices.

The Thompson, Henry Steedler, Adolph Laskman, Leo Swatts and a few others were seen from persons who knew. Several persons who did not know the Thompson offered him money, but he refused to take it.

"No money," he said, "I am only betting for amusement, just to see whether the boys will pay if they lose."

Some of the other bettors were not so scrupulous, however, and accepted money. Each bookmaker had a small card, which he could hold in the palm of his hand, on which he would scribble, rubbing and changing as the bets were made.

The Thompson had a clerk, who recorded the bet and also put the bettor's name opposite the bet.

During the afternoon, the crowd thawed out a trifle and one who wished to bet on the race, which was held in the paddock, was quickly strung out.

Before a half had been run, however, Sayonara went after him and at the top of the hill he caught and passed him. The others, headed by Winship were a dozen lengths away.

Sayonara led to the end, winning in a matter of eight lengths from Lafayette, who was twenty before Winship. Primus came at next to the last stride. Time—2:25.

NIGHT EDITION NO M'LAUGHLIN VERDICT

Jury Disagrees After Deliberating a Day and a Night.

WERE 10 TO 2 FOR CONVICTION.

Bribery Charges Wiped Out and the Case Was Based on Extortion Only.

The jury in the McLaughlin extortion case came into court at 5 o'clock this afternoon and reported that they were unable to arrive at a verdict.

They retired at 6.45 last evening, after listening to Justice Barrett's charge, and for four hours nothing was heard from them.

The Justice had remained in the building in readiness to answer questions or receive the verdict should they agree upon one, but they could come to no conclusion.

At 10.45 P. M. an adjournment was announced until midnight, and the jury, escorted by a dozen or more court officers, were driven up to the Broadway Central Hotel for supper.

Meanwhile Justice Barrett went out to dine with Justice Ingraham, and they returned together just about the same time as the jurymen, a little before midnight.

The latter resumed deliberation of the case, but it was not until more than an hour afterwards that they made their first request of the Judge. They came into the courtroom at 11 P. M., and asked for instructions regarding the relations between the defendant and his wardman, James Burns, the point which had been so strongly emphasized by Justice Barrett in his charge as the crucial test of the people's case.

Basis of Collision.

In reply Justice Barrett said he had been particularly careful to point out on the basis of the alleged collusion in his charge, and repeated his statement regarding the evidence showing that Capt. McLaughlin, when assigned to the First Precinct, had made a special request to the Police Commissioners for the transfer of Burns to that precinct, and had subsequently taken him with him to another precinct.

The jury also asked if the testimony of unimpeached witnesses could be disregarded, and were told that it could not.

To the question whether Galligan's remark, "I think Burns bugged me," could be regarded as evidence that Burns and McLaughlin got the money, Justice Barrett said that it was not.

His twelve members the night under lock and key in the Oyer and Term

RESULTS AT HAWTHORNE.

RACE TRACK, HAWTHORNE, May 11.—The races on this track to-day resulted as follows:

First Race—Six and a half furlongs—Won by McKee, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1; Atman second, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1; Hemet third, Time—1:12.

Second Race—Five furlongs—Won by Con Lacey, 3 to 1 and 2 to 1; Benjamin second, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1; Forest third, Time—1:02.

Third Race—Six and one-half furlongs—Won by Hamas, 4 to 1 and 5 to 1; My Glyn second, even for race; Pattie third, Time—1:20.

Fourth Race—Six and one-quarter furlongs—Won by Vestibule, 4 to 1 and 5 to 1; R. Pickaway second, place even, and winner third, Time—1:20.

Fifth Race—One mile—Won by Plenty, 4 to 1 and 4 to 1; Pat Woodcock second, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1; Connors third, Time—1:41.

RESULTS AT LOUISVILLE.

RACE TRACK, LOUISVILLE, May 11.—The races on this track to-day resulted as follows